BIO

Jack is a Software Development undergraduate and an IT Support Technician transitioning into Quality Assurance Automation Engineering.

Jack grew up with this deep curiosity—How can something can come from nothing?

To Jack, that was web development. Thus sparked a lifelong passion for learning.

Since then, Jack has found himself pursuing many passions—from programming, to music performance, sports science, astrophysics, and more. Recently, Jack helped spearhead a community of professionals seeking personal and career development. One day, Jack would like to say he made an impact in people's lives.
